

北海道大学
HOKKAIDO UNIVERSITY

THE UNIVERSITY OF
MELBOURNE

Hokkaido University – University of Melbourne Joint Workshop

Challenges & Opportunities of Climate Change Impact on Migrant Health in Australia and Japan

JULY 9 (WED) - 10 (THU), 2025

HYBRID (ONLINE & IN-PERSON)

OPEN INNOVATION HUB – ENREISO, HOKKAIDO UNIVERSITY

LANGUAGE: ENGLISH

Climate, Migration & Health: An Urgent Conversation Across Disciplines

Climate change is reshaping the health and well-being of migrant workers. This workshop unites researchers from diverse fields to explore challenges, share insights, and foster solutions for affected communities in Australia and Japan. Join us in shaping the future of migration and health in a changing climate.

July 9, 2025 (9:30 - 15:00)

Asst. Prof. Kazutaka Yoshida
Graduate School of Medicine,
Hiroshima University

International worker's health in Aomori

Prof. Chi Hyunjoo Naomi
Graduate School of Public Policy
Hokkaido University

Navigating Climate Change and Migrant Health: Challenges and Opportunities in Hokkaido, Japan

Assoc. Prof. Yasufumi Moritani
Hokkaido University of Education

A brief introduction to foreign workers in Japan, focusing on Hokkaido

Assoc. Prof. Xerxes Seposo
Graduate School of Medicine,
Hokkaido University

Results of rapid scoping review on the impact of climate change on migrant health (updated)

Assoc. Prof. Karen Block
School of Population and Global Health, University of Melbourne

Climate Change and Displacement: Implications and Opportunities of Crisis Narratives

Ms. Gemma Tarpey-Brown
School of Population and Global Health, University of Melbourne

Women's experiences of temporary labour migration in the Asia Pacific

Dr Eliza Crosbie
School of Population and Global Health, University of Melbourne

"African farmer in Australia, that's a good dream": adapting to new climates through cultivation in regional Australia

July 10 Focus Group Discussion
(9:30 - 15:40)

Contact Person

Assoc. Prof. Xerxes Seposo

Graduate School of Medicine, Hokkaido University

Email: seposo.xerxestesoro@pop.med.hokudai.ac.jp

Links for the Registration, Full
Program, Venue
and Zoom can be found HERE!!

REGISTER NOW!!!